

Little Red Cuttlefish

She may be spineless, but this invertebrate has a lot of backbone! Little Red jets off to take fresh crab cakes to her grandmother. Everything goes swimmingly until a big, bad tiger shark attacks! Little Red has to use her cuttlefish defenses: camouflage, quick reflexes, and squirting an ink cloud to outwit the shark, combining science and spunk. Gorgeous illustrations depict the reef and its adorable main character with lively detail. The authors include information about cuttlefish and tiger sharks, addressing Common Core standards, as well as resources for further reading. This aquatically fractured fairy tale will tickle your cuttlebone and spark your curiosity. After reading, remember to sleep tight and don't let the copepods bite!
