

Spiky the Saltwater Crocodile (Book 2) - Spiky is Starving (Books for boys and girls who like danger.)

This second Spiky book introduces you to more of this artful and humorous character in a series of books for boys and girls who like danger. Having spent years supporting reluctant boy readers, these books are designed to captivate the interest of boys and get them started reading. Following on from Spiky the crocodile, it's a tale about Spiky the crocodile who attempts to eat a boy. Made for Kindle Fire with bright, colorful and attractive illustrations. Viv Rosser has been a teacher of special needs children aged from five to thirteen, she has a BA in psychology and is an artist who loves creating children's storybooks. Another beautifully illustrated children's story book with twenty-four colorful pages, for two to seven year olds. Every picture tells a story, to read with or without an adult. This color picture book is suitable for the Kindle Fire, Kindle Fire HD, Kindle Fire HD 8.9, iPad or iPhone, but also looks good in the Amazon Kindle-Viewer (on a PC or Mac - set full-screen, landscape). To display pictures full screen, set words per line to max in Kindle-Viewer. Illustrations are both portrait and landscape. On portable devices, set them to switch from portrait to landscape when the device is rotated. On a PC, advancing the pages using the keyboard cursor keys instead of the mouse, avoids annoying pop-ups. This book works well in a school using a PC and overhead projector.
