

Nana Lenas Kitchen: Recipes for Life

One part Tuesdays with Morrie, one part Like Water for Chocolate, Nana Lenas Kitchen by Amy Ostrower is an inspirational collection of stories and recipes from a Southern Jewish kitchen. These recipes read almost like folk tales, fables from a mythic past handed down generation to generation with love. As an extended family of sisters, daughters and granddaughters gather to make a Passover meal or prepare the Shiva table, Nana Lenas recipes are dispensed with an equal measure of wisdom - about life and death, courage and responsibility, family and faith. We see the spirited Lena grow in these pages from a young girl and impetuous bride to a loving mother and grandmother. Her story mirrors the larger currents of her times. The daughter of immigrants, Lena Goodman was born on the Fourth of July, 1912 in Berkeley, Virginia. During her lifetime she saw the Flu Epidemic of 1918, the Great Depression, the Second World War, the invention of indoor plumbing -- even a Jewish boy named Sandy Koufax play Major League Baseball. She continues to live on in these stories, fondly remembered by her granddaughter Amy, who is a screenwriter living in Los Angeles. Nana Lenas Kitchen is a gem -- and a perfect gift for mothers, daughters, bubbies and best friends. www.nanalenaskitchen.com Nana Lenas Kitchen warms your heart. In an age of indifference here is a woman, her stories and recipes deliciously remembered, who reminds you of the beauty of the human heart.
