

SIX SIGMA IN REAL TIME (PART 1) (SIX SIGMA - WHY Book 6)

Do you know exactly what is happening in your department and business every moment of the day? Do you receive reports filled with lots of non-value information? Do you spend hours searching through numbers and text to find meaning? Do you spend hours searching through numbers and text just to create another report that no one seems to read? Do you create reports just to be asked a question that is not answered in the report? Does your staff work on reports more than on something value adding? Do you always seem to try to catch up? Do you always tend to find out something happened too late? This book provides the tools to know exactly what is happening in your business every moment of the day, with the details and without hours of report creation. It provides the tools that enable your reports be done automatically and clearly so all levels of management understand the current situation within seconds. This book will show you how to know that is something is about to happen or that it just happened
